Welcome!

Today is the day! The Statesboro Tobacco market got underway this morning with the familiar song of the auctioneer sweet music in the ears of those with tobacco on the warehouse floors.

We welcome all who are connected with our tobacco market. We are happy to have the representatives of the big tobacco companies here with us. They mean much to our community during the next several weeks. We welcome the tobacco warehousemen who have done so much to promote our market. We welcome the tobacco growers without whom there would be no market.

Make yourself to home while here.

Let's welcome them

Citizens of Statesboro will be given an opportunity to say "welcome neighbor" in the city election on Friday, July 26, when they vote on the requests of the several sections of our community lying outside the official city limits of Statesboro to be taken in and made a part of the city.

We believe that we should vote for these people who are a part of Statesboro and its progress and its personality, yet they do not live "in" Statesboro.

We believe that our claim to our position as being one of the best communities in this section, dictates our welcoming them into and becoming citizens of Statesboro.

But regardless of how you personally feel about this business of extending our city limits, go to the polls on Friday, July 26, and exercise your right to vote.

A fine visit

Friday of last week fertilizer manufacturers, agricultural workers, farmers, and friends of Sam Neville spent the greater part of the day visiting and inspecting his farm to see how he became this year's winner of the Georgia Plant Food Educational Society's better grazing contest.

Beginning at 9:45 Friday morning the group toured the farm and knocked off at dinner time to enjoy a country meal.

We commend Mr. Neville and throw up high our straw hat with the wide brim and the red band and the air holes in the crown for his accomplishments in the field of grazing.

Those inspecting Mr. Neville's place found that he met the line requirements of his land determined by proper soil testing. They found that he fertilizes his Coastal Bermuda with 500 pounds of 4-12-12 and 125 pounds of nitrogen per acre. They found that his star millet and winter grazing crops get the same fertilizer treatment. It's this sort of planning and management that makes for good farming and the simple fact that Mr. Neville was declared the winner for this year does not mean that his is the only farm which is deserving of recognition. There are many farmers who use similar practices and who are doing excellent work toward keeping Bulloch's position high in the role of counties in our state and section.

Fighting Dick Russell

The people of our Southland owe Senator Dick Russell a tremendous debt of gratitude.

Regardless of the outcome of the present fight in our National Congress over the civil-rights bill we can know that there is no man in Congress who could have represented us so ably.

And at this writing Dick Russell has managed to gain ground in the battle and is building hopes that there may be some modification in the bill which will nullify some of the vicious provisions set out in the administration's bill.

It took a man of his stature and ability and experience to show President Eisenhower the true nature of the bill and the effect it would have on the South if it should be written into law.

And it's gratifying to know that Senator Russell has had able help from our junior senator, Herman Talmadge.

We just wonder

We sort of admire Governor Marvin Griffin's announced determination to permit no "politicizing" in his official family during the remainder of his administration so that he can devote full time at making it a good one.

So we were set back on our heels at his firing Adjutant General George J. Hearn, Brigadier General Homer Flynn, assistant adjutant general for the Air National Guard, and Colonel Charles T. White, State Defense Department public information officer, accusing them of "politicizing" for their friend Lieut. Gov. Vandiver, who is expected to be a candidate for governor next year.

Politicians of the experience and know-how with which Governor Griffin is so capably endowed have many ways of breaking up "politicizing" of what they may consider an undesirable nature which are just as effective as just up and giving them the old heave ho.

And we concede his reasoning that the appointment of Roger Lawson, ex-chairman of the State Highway Board, to an advisory non-pay position with the board is to take advantage of Mr. Lawson's first-hand knowledge of the vast highway program set up by the Federal Government which will give Georgia 1,171 miles of new roads.

But that appointment brings Mr. Lawson back into his official family and if Mr. Lawson is to run for governor—and he says he is—there's fertile ground in the State Highway Department to do "politicizing."

It's hard for us to understand politics. So we just wonder.

ARE YOU A LITTERBUG...?

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

Last week we had a letter from Mr. George W. DeBrosse, who is living in the Order of Eastern Star Home at 229 Howard Street, N. E., Atlanta 17, Ga.

Mr. DeBrosse is in the happy position of being the only man in the home among ten lady guests. "I count myself fortunate to be that man!" he says.

He is so contented at the home that he believes that the people of Bulloch County should be acquainted with the great work that the Eastern Star is doing for elderly people.

According to his letter the home was instituted by the trustees of the Georgia Order of Eastern Star in 1950 and is governed by the board of trustees made up of nine of the ruling officers of the Order elected and appointed annually.

They meet once a month when they inspect the home and audit the books. Mr. DeBrosse pays high tribute to these members of the board of trustees who have a hearty hand clasp and a friendly word for us favored guests. It is indeed a home of love and comfort for elderly Eastern Stars," he says.

The home is spacious and is a commanding residence of Old South architecture. There are broad verandas on which big comfortable rocking chairs are furnished for comfort and in good taste. The meals, served in a big dining room, are good and well served. There are two pianos, a TV set for the enjoyment of the guests.

"Frequently we have Sunday religious services held by the various churches in the city and the various chapters of the O.E.S. from the city and Georgia," he said.

"Our motto is, as the Order of Eastern Star teaches 'Love One Another.' We are indeed fortunate to have this nice home in our declining years," he writes.

The home superintendent is Mrs. Emma Miles who has been there since the establishment of the home. The guests think of her as a "real mother." Mrs. Mattie Witte Brown is the House Hostess and House Mother.

"We have Baptists, Methodists, Presbyterians and Primitive Baptists here," he writes. "And each attends the church of his or her choice at his or her will."

Each afternoon they observe a rest period from 1:30 to 2:00.

Thru the Ps of Virginia Russell

Recently two children have been hit in our town by cars driven by drivers allegedly under the influence of alcohol.

Serious-thinking people have been hurt by these accidents, and rightly so. But does it seem strange that we get upset by accidents that suddenly injure and kill our children, yet give little concern for the "accidents" that cripple and kill our people every day in a slow, soul-destroying as well as body-crippling manner?

It isn't popular to talk about it because "everybody does it." Strangely enough, some of the most attractive and charming people do it. But even so it is still deadly to many. It's like cancer in a way. The damage is often done before the disease is detected.

It sounds as though I'm hedging. I am talking about the "drinking" that has become a "national custom." How many of us are upset about it? Yet authorities tell us that one out

Meditation for This Week

By THE REV. TED PAGE

WORSHIP IN REVERSE

"Between the porch and the altar, were about five and twenty men, with their backs toward the temple... and they worshipped the sun," Ezek. 8:16. In Ezekiel's vision an angel leads him to behold one abomination after another, each worse than the one preceding. In the inner court of the temple, he sees the very climax of iniquity. Twenty-five men turn their backs to the shed shrine worshipping the sun.

First, consider these men. There is something to be said for them. They worshipped, and worshipped something other than themselves. That is all to their credit. But it was false worship. They substituted material for the spiritual. The guilt was aggravated by the fact that they were, essentially, men of the Bible and of the church, consecrated—yet they turned their backs, became deliberately apostate, substituted for the worship of their fathers the worship of the sun.

Second, consider ourselves. We have a revelation, complete in the Bible and in Christ, which these men never knew. Yet we turn our backs upon the temple of God all too often. Thus it is we doubt the existence of God or misunderstand His place in the universe, or forget our need of Him. God is Father; we are but children. God creates; we are only tinkers. God rules; we only think we rule.

We turn our backs upon the temple when we substitute some easy, complacent view of human nature for the view revealed in Scripture and history. There is vast amount of good in human nature, also we should have reverts to the jungle long ago. But there never has been enough of it. "The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked."

It is gratifying to us and to our friends to know that Mr. DeBrosse is contented with his life where he is. He admits, however, that he misses his many friends in Statesboro and Bulloch County. He likes to get mail from Statesboro and Bulloch County.

We are happy to bring Mr. DeBrosse's thoughts to our readers.

IT'S GOING to be an interesting year—that year that is—next year if you are interested in politics and whether or not you are, you should be.

Already the air is full of the prospects of candidates for the Governor's race. Mr. Roger Lawson, brother to Mrs. Bird Daniel, is an avowed candidate. Everyone who is anyone in politics, almost as well known as Mr. Lawson, is expected to be a candidate. And now comes word that Ivan Allen Jr. of Atlanta, president of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, with a wide background of public service, is juggling with the idea of throwing his hat in the ring. All of these have appeared before groups here in Statesboro and Bulloch County. All have made favorable impressions and all they all should be candidates. Georgia will be in the happy position that the winner would make us a good governor.

ALCOHOLISM is as terrible a disease as there is. It destroys the individual while he often destroys other people. Yet, would he have ever had this affliction, crippling disease if he had never been exposed to it? Why do we protect our children from one disease and never even mention, let alone educate him, about another far more devastating disease?

IS DEATH or serious injury worse when it comes suddenly and shockingly? Or will it be even worse when it lasts over a long period of time and destroys the mind and soul as well as the body? But often when people are injured, when a person is injured by alcohol, let us protect our children from this killer, too!

THE LANGUAGE of the bill is so loose and broad that it covers every human activity from the cradle to the grave. Through invoking existing laws the measure could be used to override all present state and federal laws and to impose Federal control over schools, public institutions, private establishments and even the home. It could be used to force racial integration in all walks of life as well as to interfere with any facet of the private lives of individual citizens held by the Attorney General to affect the rights and privileges of any other person or persons.

It Seems to Me...

max lockwood

He came into my office, reached across the desk and shook my hand and said he had to say goodbye. He leaves tonight to take a fine new job as an engineer. He will do a good job.

Just a few days ago he was one of a thousand and fifty to receive his degree from Georgia Tech. He is immensely proud of it and as I examined his ring I could see the proudness with which he showed it to me.

AS HE HELD my hand and said goodbye he expressed appreciation for the little part I had been privileged to play in his life. I quickly moved on to my work for as the thoughts of the years came back to me it was difficult to conceal the real emotion which sprang from my heart.

I remembered how, as a little boy, he first came to play base ball. The field was all clay and the equipment we used was old and worn. We learned valuable lessons together, he and I. He was taking part in a new game. I was taking part in a new job and a new program.

I remembered the days when things were too tough for us and he would strike out but he would come back to bat or he would be one of the last ones chosen on the team and the tears would come to the surface, fast and furious.

The days passed. The years came and went. He reached the teenage years and with the millions of others had problems. Problems which seemed unresolvable at the time. Problems which he sometimes shared with me.

OH YES, there were the good days too. There were the good times in which he pitched and won. Baseball games in which he lost and gained all things, and desperately wicked."

Stilson Presbyterian Church to hold home-coming August 4

By MRS. W. H. MORRIS

Home-coming will be held at the Stilson Presbyterian Church August 4. Basket lunches will be served out under the trees at noon hour. We hope all the members will be present. We urge all to attend. Everyone is welcome.

The recent working of the roads, and plowing out of ditches here along with the rain, makes for a bad muddy road. All those who are occasional drivers should not attempt to drive these roads until they are in much better condition.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. James Sr. of Savannah spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Levi Morris and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe C. Cribbs and girls, Barbara and Vickie of Savannah spent the weekend visiting Mrs. Fannie E. Cribbs and other relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Sanders of Garden City spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. C. Cribbs.

Polio cases decrease in '57

Doctor Hubert King, medical director of the district health department, reports that information from the U. S. Public Health Service indicates a significant decrease in cases of polio in the United States during the first half of 1957 as compared with 1956.

From January 1 through June 29 this year, some 1,260 cases of polio in the United States during the first half of 1957 as compared with 1956.

However, the majority of young adults (20-40 years) are still unprotected. This group is the next most susceptible group. All young adults are urged to make arrangements immediately to receive the polio vaccine through their family doctors or in the community polio clinics sponsored by the Bulloch County Medical Society.

The Griner family reunion was held on July 14 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Griner. A large crowd of friends and relatives attended. Barbecue and a beautiful basket dinner was spread out under the trees. Everyone had a very enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Beasley and children, Roger and Leah, of Jacksonville, Fla., spent the weekend of July 14 with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Beasley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Griner arrived last Thursday from Jacksonville, Fla., and they are visiting Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Beasley.

BRIDE HONORED AT BRUNCH BY CLOSE FRIENDS

On Wednesday morning of last week Mrs. D. D. Rhein (Patsy), Mrs. Emerson Brannen and Mrs. Charles Hendrix entertained at brunch at Mrs. Bryant's kitchen honoring Miss Barbara Ann Brannen, bride-elect.

The party table combined charm and beauty in the decorations with the elegance of the table appointments. A double silver candelabra at one of the table was centered with a dainty bouquet of valley lilies and sweetheart roses with a fluted ruff of green net cascaded with pink satin streamers.

At the other end of the table guests were served coffee punch from a crystal bowl.

Party sandwiches, home-made cookies, mints and nuts were in silver trays and compotes.

Mrs. Parker's gift to Barbara Ann was a dinner fork in her silver.

In an amusing game in which the guests matched wits, Mrs. Hal Waters won the prize, a silent butler.

Twenty guests were present.

FORTNIGHTERS HAVE DUTCH SUPPER

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Jackson's country house was the meeting place of the Fortnighters Club last week. Instead of cards, the members all participated in a dutch supper. The men grilled hamburgers and served them with hush puppies, corn on the cob and cake.

Those present were Dr. and Mrs. John L. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Jones Jr. and Mrs. Albert Braswell, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Brannen, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Robert Tillman, Miss Maxam Foy and W. C. Hodges.

MRS. YARBOR HOSTESS TO DOUBLE FOUR BRIDGE CLUB

The Double Four bridge club met Thursday night with Mrs. Clyde Yarbort at her home on 306 Grande Street. The decorations were mixed summer flowers. Hot fudge sundaes and crackers were served.

For high score, a gardening set was won by Mrs. Charles Hollar. Mrs. Dick Heidigert, with low, received a set of sand bag ash trays. A pair of earrings went to Miss Grace Gray for cut.

Others playing were Frances Brown, Neveil Anderson, Sue Lane and Jean Smith.

GUEST HONORED AT THREE O'CLOCK CLUB

Mrs. Robert Donaldson was hostess to the Three O'Clock's bridge club on Tuesday of last week and had as honor guest Mrs. Hubert Amason, of New Jersey.

Roses were used in the decorations in the lovely home. For refreshments she served ham biscuit, deviled eggs, jelly roll and iced tea.

Mrs. Amason and her sister, Mrs. Roy Adams of Claxton, were presented gifts.

Those winning prizes were Mrs. William Woodcock, Mrs. Lov Waters and Mrs. Robert Lanier.

Guests were invited for four tables.

MR. AND MRS. T. L. MOORE JR. HONORED ON SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Moore Jr. of Register, who reached their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Sunday, July 14, were entertained graciously and royally by their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Olliff Jr., in their beautiful home, which was open for all the friends and relatives of this esteemed couple.

Mrs. Moore was before her marriage, Miss Sara Lou Anderson.

The mantel in the living room was decorated with arrangements of pink and purple asters against a background of canna leaves. On the table nearby was an arrangement of lavender asters.

The bride's table, overlaid with an imported linen and cut work cloth, gained added beauty from the three-tiered wedding cake, all white with roses, flanked by low candelabra with white tapers and arrangements of white flowers and silver foilage. On the buffet was a tall eight-branched candelabra, also flanked by white flowers and silver leaves.

In the breezeway where the guests were served were massive bouquets of yellow and gold daisies. In the den, where the gifts were displayed, a bronze container held gladioli and asters.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Olliff Jr. greeted the guests. Mrs. J. D. Clark introduced them to the receiving line, composed of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Moore Jr., Thomas Moore, Charles Moore, and Miss Sara Ann Moore.

Mrs. Moore wore a lovely white satin cotton street-length dress with the round neckline accented with rhinestones. She wore a purple orchid corsage.

Seated in the living room were Mrs. Moore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Anderson and the Rev. R. C. Howard had the bride and groom of twenty-five years reaffirm their wedding vows in front of the fireplace in the living room.

Mrs. Graham Bird kept the guest register. In the dining room were Paula Banks, Eugenia Moore, Cynthia Atkins and Sandra Atkins. Melissa Olliff passed the napkins on a silver
